DuctMedic addresses indoor air pollution that cause allergies, asthma and other illnesses. Most of us take for granted clean air. The air we breathe in our homes is fine if nothing is wrong with me. This is far from the truth. Six out of ten homes have contamination levels higher than what is acceptable as fair. Some problems created by contaminated air in your home include: respiratory problems and aggravation of your allergy and asthma issues.

DuctMedic is able to measure and inspect your home for contaminants that may be harmful or are just the first step in aggravating allergy and asthma symptoms. DuctMedic removes the source of the air quality problem instead of masking it with medicine. When you choose to call us out to do a FREE indoor air quality analysis we will do three things on site. Educate you about your homes air quality. Measure and inspect your homes contamination levels. Offer solutions when necessary that range from duct cleaning, to better filtration, to some form of purification. No two homes are very alike. We know this and what you to understand it!
