Financial Exploitation

Financial exploitation involves the misuse or theft of financial or other personal assets. Find consumer education and advocacy resources and information so you can protect your personal and family assets.

View PDF

Article

What You Can Do to Prevent Caregiver Fraud

Expert tips on hiring home care wisely and protecting loved ones from financial abuse.

Source

AARP

Article

Technology Tools to Help Guard Against Elder Financial Abuse

Be aware of the risk of financial exploitation for older adults and learn about technology tools to help. AARP identifies websites and companies that can help you flag suspicious behavior and put up financial guardrails to protect your assets. Source

AARP

7 0 11 11

Links

AARP Foundation: Financial Health

Source

AARP Foundation: Financial Health

Article

Senior Safe Act Law Targets Elder Financial Abuse

This article explains the Senior Safe Act that enlists financial institutions as allies in preventing the financial abuse of older adults.

Source

AARP

Article

Spot the Red Flags of Elder Financial Abuse

Elder financial abuse can take many forms. These are some signs that there may be a problem.

Source

AARP

Article

Understanding Elder Abuse

This fact sheet provides a basic overview of elder abuse.

Source

Centers for Disease Control (CDC)

Article

Financial Exploitation: Safeguarding Your Money and Property

Financial exploitation, also known as financial abuse, occurs when someone illegally or improperly uses your money or property for their own benefi

Source

National Association of Area Agencies on Aging

Article

Financial Tools for Older Adults and Their Families

The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau provides financial resources and information for older adults and their families.

Source

Consumer Financial Protection Bureau

Article

Managing Your Money

Consumer. gov provides helpful resources to help you manage your money including budgets, credit, debt, and loans.

Source

Federal Trade Commission

Article

What is Financial Exploitation?

Older people often have regular income, accumulated savings, or equity in their homes. This makes them attractive targets for exploitation by con artists, unscrupulous family members, caregivers and others.

Source

Consumer Financial Protection Bureau

Pagination

- Current page 1
- Page 2
- Next page >>
- Last page Last »

Showing 1-10 of 13 Results